Pastoral Reflection

of Rev. L. John Gable

Dear Friends,

As I prepare to bring my years of ministry to a close (41 in total and 15 at Tab) I find myself doing a little life review and reflection. Even as I am starting to look forward to what lies ahead, I also find myself looking back at the journey of my life and ministry.

As we come to the conclusion of our sermon series on the Vision Renewal Statement I am going to invite you to join me on a walk down memory lane as I reflect with you on the various people and experiences that have influenced my life and faith, as well as what I have learned from each of the three churches I served prior to coming to Tab. The series will conclude in July with my reflections on why I think Tab is the uniquely wonderful church it is. My hope is that this won't just sound like a "mini bio" of my life, as much as an expression of gratitude to all those who have influenced my life and faith, and an encouragement to us to continue to support and encourage one another in the life of faith, particularly our young people.

One of the exercises I have done at various times in my life is what is commonly called a "life review timeline" and it is something I will encourage you to do for yourself.

Take out a piece of paper and draw a line across the top, side to side, preferably in landscape orientation. Start your time line about 1/3 of the way down the page so you will have room to write above the line as well as below. Begin by marking the various dates or ages or seasons of your life across the timeline, i.e. childhood, adolescence, early adulthood, middle age, declining years, whatever makes most sense to you as you reflect upon your own life.

Next, in columns below each of those headings, indicate significant events, what you were doing, how you were feeling, how you were growing or changing, the ways you remember those years.

Then, above the line, indicate how God was, or perhaps was not, evident and involved in your life during each of those seasons. Mark the times of significant growth or change you experienced in your relationship with God.

Finally, take time to look back and reflect on your journey of life and faith. From that perspective, look at the ways God has been present and at work in your life. And give thanks!

I was recently asked to explain the concept of predestination, always a stumper for us Presbyterians. Many think of it as God predesigning or predetermining every aspect of our lives such that we have no response or responsibility. That is not the way John Calvin described it at all. Rather than thinking that God has pre-planned our entire futures for us, Calvin suggests that we should turn around and look back over the course of our lives to see how God has been present and at work, even during our most difficult times...and give thanks! Having done that, we can turn again to the future with confidence and hope in God's goodness and faithfulness.

I hope you will join us in worship, not just to hear my story of faith, but to reflect on your own as together, we worship God.

—John

Meet Kate Ase: A Full and Well-Lived Life

by Maya Wagle

On a cold winter's day in January 1946, a tiny slip of a girl, left Crystal City, Texas in a thin summer coat, headed north to St. Paul, Minnesota with a ticket, one change of clothes, and a few dollars in her pocket (all the change her family could spare). She changed trains at St. Louis. All she remembered was that her father told her to go straight north and not east or west. So, when she heard a returning GI say that he was headed north she just followed him and got on the same train. It's a wonder she reached Hamline University in that thin summer coat without freezing.

Perseverance and serenity in the face of trial is Kate Ase's trademark throughout her life. Born in Phoenix, Arizona in 1927 to Presbyterian teacher parents, she learned about her Lord from childhood. Her older brother was named Luther, followed by Katherine, Paul and Pauline. Her father was a brilliant man who studied subjects like chemistry and theology. Her happy childhood fell apart on February 19, 1942 with Executive Order 9066: All "persons of Japanese ethnicity" were told to take only "what they could carry," and be sent to internment camps.

For the next four years, 128,00 Japanese Americans were interned in ten camps, all across the western United States. Fathers separated from their families were put in separate camps; so Kate did not see her father from the age of 14 till the age of 23.

Life at Hamline University was very hard and with her parents interned, Kate had very little money. She received no care packages and was truly dependent upon the "kindness of others." Nicknamed "The sun-burnt Swede" by her Swedish classmates, she worked in the kitchen for free food, and accepted free hamburgers from the corner White Castle at the end of the day. She was enveloped by loving classmates. Her best friend, Aileen, knowing that Kate could not go home as she had no money, made her part of her own family. On graduation day, Aileen's parents stood by Kate in that proud moment.

Kate and Aileen headed to Los Angeles in 1949, in the middle of the polio epidemic. It was just after WWII, and she encountered rampant racism, being of Japanese ethnicity, yet her friend Aileen stood with her. After working a year at LA County General with patients in iron lungs, she returned to Chicago to reunite with her parents whom she hadn't seen in 5 years. Her father, unfortunately, died of intestinal cancer in 1952. Her older brother Luther fell prey to pancreatic cancer in 1954, at the tender age of 29, as did her sister Pauline, in 1995.

Always driven with a passion for knowledge, whether it be the Bible or nursing, Kate attended night school, working at St. Luke Medical Center during the day. After she completed her Master's in Public Health, she taught at University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill beginning in 1967. While there were episodes of prejudice towards her, she lived there for five years.

Big-hearted Kate allowed students and new colleagues stay with her. It was a Dutch colleague who encouraged her to apply at the United Nations in 1971. She still recalls the excitement, being lost in a taxi in Geneva, prior to interviews. After landing the UN job, her posting led her to India, spending three years in Bombay, and six years in New Delhi. Her work also took her to Bangladesh, Nepal and so many other countries.

On furloughs, she visited her mother, keeping in close touch with her nephews and nieces whom she adored. In 1979, when her mother was diagnosed with intestinal cancer, Kate returned to Chicago to take care of her. Following her mother's passage, she began work in Maternal and Child Care at Marion County Health Department, until she retired in 1994.

It was in that year, benefitting from reparations from the US government (for the wrongful incarceration), she along with her sister Pauline and two nieces, spent weeks in Japan visiting relatives. It was an epic trip for her younger sister who died six months later of pancreatic cancer at the age of 61.

In her retirement years, Kate has kept very busy. Her nimble fingers have stitched hundreds of blankets and quilts for the Raphael Health Center, where she also actively volunteered in various capacities, for many years. She has also been on several mission trips to Romania, Cuba, Mexico and Arizona, where she has ministered to mothers, orphans and the homeless.

Kate's heart occupies her entire frame. She will give you the shirt off her back. Despite every trial she has encountered, her faith in her Lord and Savior Jesus Christ has never wavered. The twinkle in her eye and beaming smile come from the love for Christ, whom she got to know when she was born. ✝

MORE POWER TO YOU!

Children's Summer Musical Tryouts

Beginning June 7

This year's summer musical, "More Power To You!" will kick off with some very low-key "tryouts" during Sunday School and Junior Church. Wednesday evening rehearsals begin June 7, and we will also rehearse each Sunday morning throughout the summer months.

All students entering grades K through 7 are invited to participate. Friends are welcome!

You and your family are invited to:

FAMILY

FUN NIGHT

Friday, June 9 | 6:00-8:30p

Tab Children's Ministries is hosting a FAMILY FUN NIGHT at Fort Benjamin Harrison State Park. Join us for a cookout, table, card and yard games appropriate for all ages at the Sycamore Shelter. Tab Children's Ministries will provide the food and paper goods, but please bring your own drinks. This event is open to the entire church family. There's no fee to participate, but there is an entrance fee to get into the park unless you have an annual Indiana State Parks pass.

Wednesday Play Days

Beginning June 7 and continuing through the summer, Tab open the Preschool Room every Wednesday for all children ages 7 and younger to come and play (accompanied by an adult, please) from 10a to 11:30a. There is no cost and age-appropriate friends are welcome. We will provide the room, the toys and the snacks; you provide the children and the fun. ☺

KIDS GAMES

2023 VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

June 19-23 | 9:00a—NOON

IT IS NOT TOO LATE TO REGISTER!

The Children's Ministries and Tab Recreation have joined forces this year to host KIDS GAMES as our 2023 Vacation Bible School (VBS). KIDS GAMES include sports, games, Bible lessons, crafts, music and snacks.

Cost is FREE, but pre-registration is required.

VBS is open to all students who are entering Grades 1-7. You can find the registration link on Tab's website at tabpres.org.

Welcome!

Jeff Earnest

Tab's new Facilities Manager

We are pleased to welcome Jeff to the Tab staff as our new facilities manager. Bringing with him years of experience in sales and management and running his own business, he has been the facilities manager at another downtown church for the past twelve years, so has extensive experience in historic buildings.

Jeff is married to Julie and they were previously members of Tab, so they will surely be recognized by many.

Please help us welcome Jeff and Julie back to Tab!

Jack Booker

Tab's summer intern

Jack is entering his senior year at Wheaton College, studying Bible and Theology and is captain of the tennis team.

During his time with us this summer he will be exposed to every aspect of parish ministry. Jack is the son of Suzy and Carter Booker and a child of Tab.

Welcome, Jack!

FRESH STOP

is a program that makes fresh, local food available to families of all income levels in our 34th & Central Tab community. Order your share at freshstop.org/tab

How do I participate?

Shares can be ordered online by midnight the Sunday before each Fresh Stop pick-up date or in-person at Tab by NOON that same Sunday. After we receive payment, we coordinate directly with our farmers to purchase seasonally-fresh foods.

How does it work?

Twice a month, from June through November, we pool our funds to purchase sustainably-grown produce at a discounted price from local farmers.

After picking up your share, we invite you to join us in our church kitchen for a cooking demo with local chefs using that week's share. Sample some delicious food as well as gather tips and recipes for the produce you just collected!

Cost?

$6.00 if you pay with a SNAP card.
Call (317) 296-4150 to arrange payment.

$12.00 if your monthly income is under:
1 person—$2,000
2 persons—$3,000
3 persons—$3,500
4 persons—$4,000

$25.00 if your monthly household income is more than the above.

*Every share is the same size and quantity, regardless of price.

**If you pay ahead for 5 or more shares, you will receive a 10% discount.
